IMMIGRATION BILL NOT RESPONSIBLE SAYS CYRUS WOOD

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Cyrus E. Woods, American ambassador to Japan, has tendered his resignation to President Coolidge and asked to be relieved of his duties at Tokio as soon as the president can conveniently replace him, it was learned here today.

Nothing connected with the present immigration situation was in any way responsible for Ambassador Wood's decision to retire, officials said. Ill health in his immediate family and other personal reasons prompted the decision, it was said.

"Excellent Record"

The ambassador's resignation was submitted several weeks ago, it was learned, but, because of the tenseness over the exclusion issue, extra precautions were taken here and in Tokio to prevent the news leaking out, and no announcement was made for fear that it might be "misinterpreted" and magnified into an alarming incident of Japanese-American relations.

Woods succeeded Charles Peecher Warren at Tokio and is considered by state department officials to have made "an excellent record." He came into the diplomatic service early in the Harding administration being appointed ambassador to Spain. He was formerly secretary of state for Pennsylvania.

There was considerable conjecture here today as to who would succeed Woods at Tokio. Always a difficult diplomatic post it is not considered to be doubly so because of the resentment felt throughout Japan over the exclusion legislation.

Illness In Family

Ambassador Woods was home on a visit several months ago, accompanying a member of his family who was in need of American medical treatment. At that time, it was said today, he informed officials here that he was afraid he would have to retire. Further illness in his family since his return to Japan confirmed his

When the president and secretary of state Hughes will see fit to relieve the ambassador is problematical.

The exclusion legislation, which the president and Mr. Hughes also Woods disapprove, is now before the president for signature or veto. A decision will be made wihtin ten days, the statutory limit.

Officials were represented as being hopeful today that Woods could be prevailed upon to stay in Tokio for some time yet, at least until the present tenseness over exclusion has passed

Highly Praised

ST. PAUL, Minn, May 19.—Exposions had become so frequent in the fire which was raging at the Craig Oil Refining Company's plant in West St. Paul shortly before noon today and blazing barrels of oil were being thrown at such a tremendous distance that the fire department was forced to abandon all efforts to subdue the flames of the refining plant.

Little William Patrick Young, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Young, 331 West 9th St., met a tragic death Sunday afternoon that has caused a wave of regret in the entire neighborhood. Billy was a favorite on account of his bright and winning ways, and his death is a severe blow to his fond parents.

Mr. Young had purchased a new tractor, and he drove it home. Billy met his father at the entrance to the alley and wanted a ride. He was taken onto the seat, and the tractor started up. It struck a rough place in the roadway and the child was thrown off. Before Mr. Young could stop it the rear wheel passed over his abdomen. He was at once taken to the hospital, but in spite of all that physicians could do for him, he died at 9:30 last night. Both parents were prostrated over the unfortunate occurrence and they have the deep sympathy of their friends.

He is survived by his parents, two sisters and a brother. Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Burial at St. Mary's cemetery.

ARREST WOMAN DETECTIVE IN ACID MURDER

COLUMBUS, O., May 19.—Police today arrested Mrs. Grace Dolby, 35, local resident, on the charge of causing the death of George B. Hackney, 31, Columbus by throwing carbolic acid on his face while they were attending a motion picture show in the Knickerbocker theatre here last night. Police attributed the alleged act on the part of Mrs. Dolby to jealousy.

Mrs. Dolby said she went to St. Louis last summer in company with Hackney, according to police. She professed great affection for the acid victim declaring, police said, "I did it to keep other women from getting his love."

Employed for several years as a private detective, the alleged acid-hurler is known to local police through professional associations. She is being held in the city prison "for investigation."

"My love for him (Hackney) was so strong, I couldn't do without him," Mrs. Dolby sobbed when booked at police headquarters.

The woman's arrest was brought about by a tip given police by Rose, 9, one of Hackney's four small, motherless children. She said "Grace" wanted her father to marry her, and "got angry when he refused"

FIVE YEAR FIGHT FOR COMPENSATION FOR YANKS ENDS: WON BY TWO VOTES

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The five-year fight to provide a bonus for America's four million world-war veterans was finally won today.

Disregarded President

Disregarding President Coolidge's opposition and harsh condemnation the Senate this afternoon performed the last act in making the additional compensation possible by passing the soldiers' bonus bill over the President's veto. The vote was 59 to 26, a margin of two votes.

The veto has already been overriden by the House of Representatives so the Senate's act puts the legislation on the Statute books.

Paid-up Insurance

The bonus will not be in cash, as was provided by the bonus bill which President Harding vetoed in 1921, and which Congress failed to pass over his veto, but it will be in the form of paid-up insurance policies, which will have a cash loan value at the end of two years and which may be exchanged for cash at the end of twenty years. The value of the policies will be determined by the extent of the service of each individual at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for service overseas.

The average policies will range between $900 and $1,000.

Galleries Crowded

The galleries were crowded and every seat on the Senate floor was occupied when the vote was taken amid great excitement. Two sick men, Senator Lenroot, of Wisconsin, and Senator Green, of Vermont, came to the Capital, especially to vote, Green, who was shot recently had to be carried into the chamber.

The noisy talking and general hubbub that accompanied the voting was suddenly stilled when the last vote was recorded and every one leaned forward to hear the result.

A cheer went up when the president protem announced: "The bill is passed, the objections of the President of the United States notwithstanding."

Greeted With Applause

Tremendous applause broke out.

The President was confined to his room at the White House weakened by a severe cold while the Senate was voting.

The result—which marked the most decisive legislative defeat he has ever received—was flashed down Pennsylvania avenue over a special telegraph wire and news rushed to the President.

He shook his head and made a hopeless gesture with his hands, but would make no comment.

Senators voting in favor of the bonus included:

Republicans: Elkins, West Virginia; Fess, Ohio; Willis, Ohio; Democrats, Neeley, West Virginia.

Republicans and Democrats voted to sustain the veto.

"NOT YET REGENERATE"

"Again we were told that Tammany was to become a plaster saint. People who have summered and wintered with the Hall must be pardoned if they greeted with a skeptical grin the solemn assurances that under the leadership of Surrogate Foley Tammany would be made an active and unselfish organization for political reform. The city has seen a 'new' Tammany too many times. The more it is changed, the more it remains the same thing. 'A thoroughly vicious principle cannot be made wholesome even in the hands of a respectable man. A Tammany that ceased to believe in exploitation and plunder would cease to be Tammany. Of course, in mere method and outward manners, it alters with alterations of the time. It knows how to encase brutality in velvet. In the spirit of Colonel Newcome's favorite Latin quotation, it endeavors with the general improvement of the habits of society to make its own appear less ferocious. But at heart the institution always must continue the same by the very law of its being. If you wanted to raise a loud laugh of incredulity, it would only be necessary for you to ask a chance group of Tammany men in confidence if they expected Mr. Foley to lead Tammany on stepping-stones of its dead self to higher things.

"No one questioned Judge Foley's character or ability. He yielded to the demand that he take the leadership of Tammany only with great reluctance and through heavy pressure, and already has, under doctor's orders, withdrawn his acceptance. Governor Smith seems to have been foremost and most influential in persuading him to make the sacrifice so as to enable Tammany to put its best foot forward at the coming National Democratic Convention, and thus do all that is possible to promote the Governor's Presidential candidacy. If Judge Foley had undertaken the work, it would evidently have been with many misgivings. These must be the greater, the better the man. One reason for his choice was said to be that he knew thoroughly the working of Tammany from the inside. But this would really be a powerful reason why a sentitive and scrupulous man would hesitate about going inside himself to make it work in the old way.

"On the surface, all was harmony when it was thought that Judge Foley would consent to take the leadership of Tammany. Even Mayor Hylan beat a hasty and not too graceful a retreat from his savage attitude of last week. This would imply that his control is working perfectly. In Tammany itself the preliminary murmurs subsided for the time being. Now they will be renewed. One may be sure that the men within the organization who have borne the heat and burden of the day will not be long satisfied with any new leader unless they can bend him to their will. They would prefer a chief who had fought his way up by rude mastery. The very scruples and delays of Surrogate Foley must have been offensive to these men. Was it, they will ask, a question of ecclesiastical preferment that led Mr. Foley to his repeated 'nolo episcopari?' Such resentments would have remained hidden for a time, but they would easily have blazed out into open opposition and factional fights that would have made Judge Foley's reign full of trouble even if he had not decided to end it before it began."—New York Times.

EXPERIMENTING IN CANCER

The recovery of a young woman suffering from an extreme case of cancer which has recently taken place in New York is revolutionary in the history of the dread disease. The failure of an operation to relieve the patient had left her in a pitiful condition with only a short time to live. She has been under radium treatment for two years and has left the hospital pronounced cured. The attending physician, however, in commenting on the case warned against being too optimistic in the light of this particular case.

Increased knowledge of the extent of the disease and of the statistics of mortality due to it have caused such wide-spread dread, especially among people whose medical knowledge is limited, that the recent experiment cannot fail to attract wide attention and bring renewed confidence and hope that various experiments to overcome the disease are to have fruitful results.

If Secretary of State Hughes really wants to travel to England with the members of the American Bar Association incognito next summer, he has only to remove his whiskers, and it is a safe bet that he would be practically unrecgonizable.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

For thirty-eight years of continuous service L. A. Richards was the town marshal of New Madrid, Missouri. He was elected when he was twenty-four and now he is sixty-two. That may not mean much to the readers of this column, but it is a fact worthy of record. A man who can serve as marshal in a small Missouri town for nearly forty years has given a high type of service. He has performed his task. He has invested himself in a piece of work, and that is the most important thing anybody can do. The other day his townsmen gave L. A. Richards a testimonial dinner and it is right that they should.

KOMICAL TELEGRAMS

By JIM ARMITAGE, Himself

CLEVELAND WOMEN HOLD peace parade. Why don't they get some suggestions from Jack Dempsey, he seems able to keep from fighting better than anyone else.

THEY PROBABLY GOT their inspiration from Henry Ford's peace ship, remember how Henry stopped the war?

WHEN THEY STOP TO THINK of income tax and a few little things like that, war seems a terrible thing.

MISTER FORD SURE KNOWS how to make flivvers and the women sure do know how to cook but keeping out of war, simply isn't being done.

BEGINS TO LOOK AS though the Democrats better nominate Coolidge, that would give 'em a chance.

COURSE AL SMITH AND McAdoo think they're in the race, but they will find it hard to get very many to agree with them.

THERE'S A LOT OF TALK about calling a special meeting of the State Legislature, the boys probably need a little expense money.

MUCH AS WE LIKE THEM, the cherry blossoms are getting a rather chilly reception.

IT DON'T EVEN GET WARM enough to make a fellow feel like trying to figure out, where to spend his vacation.

GUESS ONE OF AL JACKSON's Stars got in a dog fight, saw it limping down Broad street on three legs.

AND JIM MCCRAN BOUGHT a new machine and Missus Jim McCrann learned to drive it in three simple lessons.

AND THEN SHE WENT SHOPPING in Cleveland, left the car out in front of a Cleveland store and when she came out a half hour later, the machine was there and it stayed there two more hours, she couldn't start it.

PERHAPS IT ADDED TO HER embarrassment when the traffic cop ordered her to appear the next morning for parking more than one hour in that particular spot.

COURSE SHE DIDN'T STAY there all day, a garage man hauled her out to his garage at East 105th street—that shot another ten spot.

THEN HER PEACE OF MIND was probably disturbed when he discovered she was out of gas—maybe not.

IT'S A GOOD LITTLE CAR, but next time she drives to Cleveland the Green Line will have another passenger.

P. S. IT WAS NOT ONE OF those little cars made in Detroit it was a Toledo product. Bran new, and guaranteed to give satisfactory service.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"REVISION OF VERSAILLES TREATY IS NEEDED," SAYS VICTOR BERGER

An international conference for the purpose of revising the terms of the treaty of Versailles in accordance with the fourteen points to which the central powers gareed when the armistice was concluded is proposed by Representative Victor L. Berger in a resolution introduced in the house.

VICTOR L. BERGER

In addition to revising the terms of the treaty, Berger's resolution calls for the appointment of a commission of experts from neutral nations to examine into the causes of the war, making use of those documents which, according to Mr. Berger, some of the allied governments are still concealing.

Brands Treaty a Myth

"The treaty of Versailles is based on a myth which has long since been exploded, even by those who helped create it," Mr. Berger declares in a statement. "The myth placed the war guilt exclusively on Germany. Secret documents that have been made public—and some that are known to exist but the terms of which are still being kept secret—destroy that myth completely.

'If any nations can be held more responsible than others, Russia and France—and, to a certain extent, Great Britain—are to be regarded as by far the guiltier.

"Not only was the treaty based on a myth, but it was obtained by fraud. The German people laid down their arms on the understanding that the treaty would be based on the fourteen points proclaimed by President Wilson.

"In all the months that elapsed from the signing of the armistice to the singing of the treaty, the fourteen points were not considered for a single moment. If an agreement between nations was ever obtained by fraud and deception, the treaty of Versailles was

Puts Blame On America

"The United States is largely responsible for the situation. It was the United States, which had no good excuse for entering the war, that really decided the war. Woodrow Wilson helped frame and also signed the treaty.

"Because of this responsibility, and also because it alone of all the nations has the necessary prestige and ability, the United States should take the initiative in calling an international conference to frame terms of peace that will take into consideration the workings of economic laws, and that will not attempt to do what the Versailles treaty vainly attempts to do—keep 60,000,000 people in the heart of Europe, a people who have given much to civilization in a permament state of servitude."

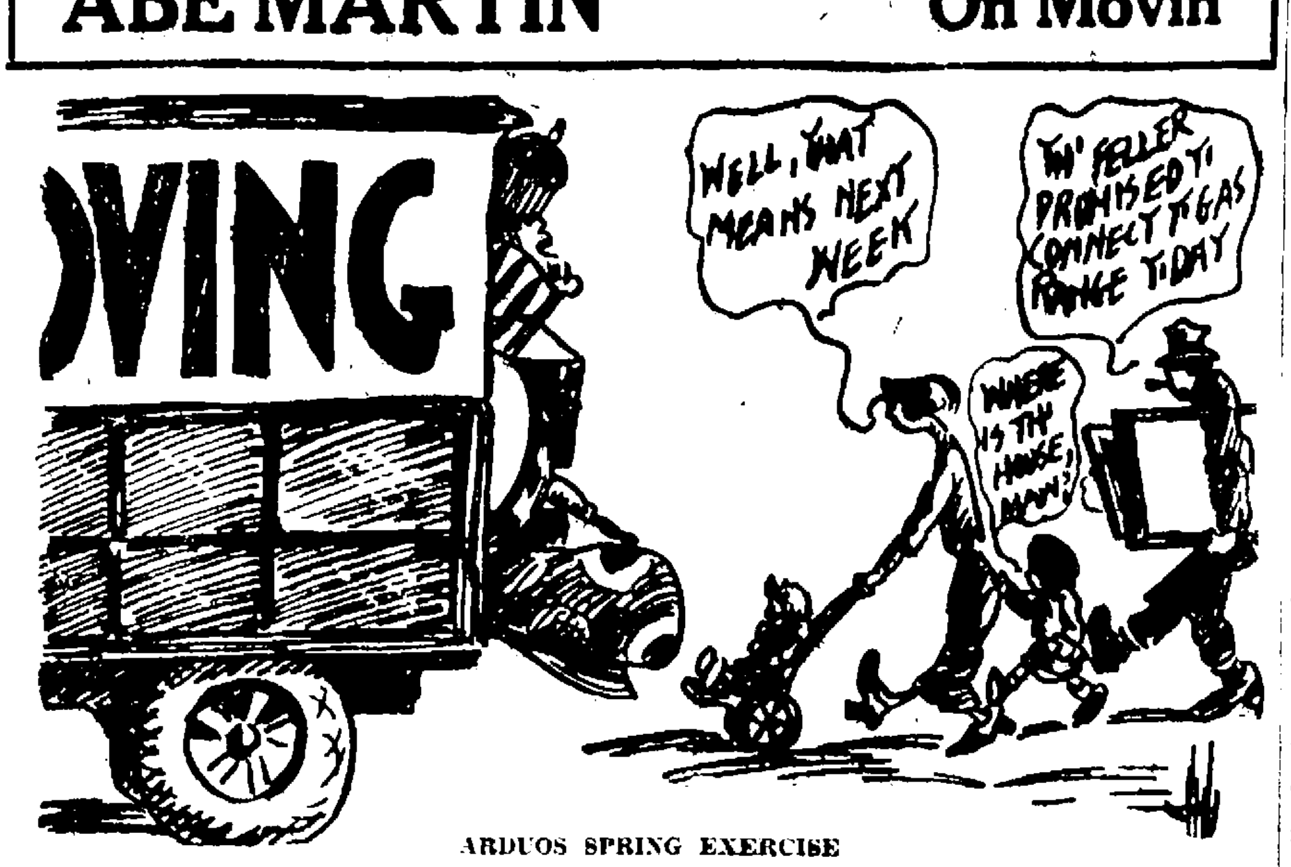
ABE MARTIN On Movin'



VING
WELL, THAT MEANS NEXT WEEK
TH' FELLER PROMISED T' CONNECT TH' GAS RANGE T'DAY
WHERE IS TH' HOUSE, MAW?

ARDUOS SPRING EXERCISE

One o' th' fine things about ownin' a home is that we don't have t' move ever' May. Movin' 'll ruin th' sweetest disposition that ever wuz, t' say nothin' o' th' davenport an' dinin' room table. Leavin' ole neighbors an' havin' t' break in new ones is another drawback. Rental houses with 3 cent wall paper, under size furnaces, an' sawed off bath tubs, an' rattlin' windows, an' snoopin' landlords, are harmful t' connubial bliss. No wife ever feels like goin' ahead in a rented house, an' th' average husband is too busy t' devote three or four months gittin' a leak in th' roof fixed, or a lavatory put back in runnin' order. If ther's anything little children hate its a rented house where they have t' be careful all th' time, an' we'd hate t' own a rental house and have t' despise little children. Even if we're back on th' rent an' can't be put out of a rental house; we don't feel jest right. We no sooner git settled down an' used t' a rental house an' git th' budget adjusted t' new conditions till th' rent is raised. An' somebuddy wants t' go thro' a rental house all th' time with a view t' buyin' it, an' ever' time we move out of a rental house, we're about thirty per cent poorer than we wuz when we moved in. We never seem t' be gittin' anywhere in a rented house, an' ever' time we git all worked up t' buy somethin', we think o' th' rent an' have t' give it up. No matter how we're taxed an' how much it costs t' maintain a home, when we plant a geranium, we know its ours, an' we kin paint th' house any color we please, an' we feel mighty more independent every way. Little children don't have to be nagged half as much in ther own home. An' we feel more like a citizen in our own home, an' are more likely t' vote intelligently an' feel like we've got a license t' raise h—ll about th' way th' town's run. It's jest awful t' be gettin' ready t' move all th' time, wonderin' if th' rugs 'll fit, an' havin' t' leave a lilac we've planted, an' gettin' balled up in th' city directory, an' havin' th' phone changed, an' the' kitchen range connected, an' wonderin' where we're goin' t' put th' pianner. Homes are expensive, but we don't believe anybuddy ever felt right in a rented house, ever felt established, or settled down. We don't believe in runnin' in debt unless it's for a home, an' ever' husband owes it to his wife t' involve himself for a home. Next t' children, nothin' 'll hold a couple t'gether like a home, 'specially if th' deed's made out jointly.

N. Y. STOCK OPENING

NEW YORK, May 19.—Heaviness marked the opening of the New York stock market. Pressure was exerted against leading industrials, but railroad shares were neglected. Oil stocks opened irregular.

NOON STOCK LEAD

NEW YORK, May 19.—Uncertainty regarding the fate of the bonus measure in the senate and the effect on tax legislation in case that bill is repassed over the presidential veto was reflected in dull and reactionary price movements in the first two hours trading on the stock exchange today.

It was evident, from the character of the transactions, what all other considerations were subordinated to this political contest, the outcome of which may have a far-reaching influence on the future finances of the industry and the political trend.

There was no disposition on the part of pool and other constructive interests to undertake constructive committments and the speculation field was left to the bearish contingent which tried to capitalize the present hesitation by applying pressure against leading industrial shares.

By the end of the first hour, prices showed a firmer tendency only in a few instances did the bears meet with a certain amount of success.

Railroad shares remained immune from pressure. On the contrary, investment buying was resumed in some of the dividend-paying issues. Call money renewed at 3 percent.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON GIVEN SUNDAY FOR THEOLOGIANS

OBERLIN, May 19 —Taking Paul as the ideal preacher or minister and showing how he was able by his education to bring to a Western World the religion of Christ and Oriental, Dr. Ian C. Hannah preached the annual Baccalaureate sermon to the graduation class of the Oberlin Graduate School of Theology in First church last night.

"Paul had much to give up," said Dr. Hannah, "but he became the real interpreter of Christianity to the world Christ showed no interest, if we may say that without desrespect, Christ showed no interest in the greatest political achievement of all time, the Roman Empire Christianity was an Asiatic religion It was Paul's Greek education which made it possible for him to interpret this religion to a western world. St Paul gained great things"

Dr Hannah said that he believed that a great deal more interest was taken in religion and religious affairs in the United States than in England or the rest of Europe, and proved this by the fact that in the American "Who's Who" there appear a great many more names of ministers than there do business men and other professions He also said that the American newspaper gives a great deal more space to churches and religion than do the papers of Europe All this he pointed out as giving the American minister a larger opportunity than that of any other country, regardless of the fact that America is not essentially a church going nation

Dr. Hannah quoted at length from Chaucer's and Goldsmith's poems in which they depict the ideal country minister, and said that although the conditions in modern America do not compare with those of Chaucer's or Goldsmith's time, those Parish priests of the two poets can be taken as safe examples of the perfect minister

Last night was the first event of the commencement season of the School of Theology. On Wednesday afternoon Dr L P Jacks, principal of Manchester College Oxford, England, will deliver the commencement address, "The Present Position of Our Churches" Dr Jacks is editor of the Hibbuts Journal and the author of several books on Theology He is now on a visit to America in which he is going around to several of the largest colleges and universities in the United States

At this service Wednesday, President King will confer the degree of the class

On Wednesday evening the annual commencement banquet for the members of the Graduate school will be held in the James Brand House

Mohammedan women of the upper classes are seldom seen on the streets

TRAINED NURSE LAUDS "DRECO"

After 14 Weeks of Illness Took New Herbal Remedy and Is Now Back Nursing Sick Cases.

"I cannot say enough in praise of your great remedy, Dreco," writes Miss Myrtle Gabbey, a professional nurse, of Lowellville, near Youngstown, Ohio. "I had an operation and was in a hospital three weeks, but upon leaving I was troubled by constipation, sick headaches and terrible dizzy spells. I was weak and needed a good tonic to restore my strength. I took several medicines but got no real benefits from them.

"I was impressed by the statements of people around here who had taken Dreco and got such wonderful results, so I began taking Dreco myself. Very soon I knew I was on the right road to recovery. I am now able to work again, in fact, am now taking cases right along. I never feel dizzy, haven't had a headache recently, the constipation is completely relieved. Dreco has renewed my energy and restored my strength. Anyone can take Dreco and feel safe, for I'm sure it is a reliable remedy."

Dreco is especially recommended to those who are suffering from indigestion, constipation, dizzy spells, headaches, rheumatism, backaches, nervousness and weak and rundown systems.

Dreco is for sale at all druggists. Try it just one week and note the remarkable change in your feelings.

GULBRANSEN
The Registering Piano

© 1924 GULBRANSEN CO.

The Registering Piano

The Gulbransen Registering Piano of today is the world's latest achievement in musical instruments.

It stands absolutely alone in the artistic results it produces and the ease with which they are obtained. It is played by music roll and pedals, as are other instruments of its type, but there the similarity ends.

The Gulbransen registers one's exact "touch" on each note. It can be played with all the feeling, the life, the delicacy of the very finest piano music you ever listened to.

Because these are facts, we are insistent that the Gulbransen be not confused with other instruments of the same type. We challenge investigation of it as an Easy-to-Play Registering Piano that registers your exact touch, that registers your time, that registers your expression.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Billy was surprised when the dog told him that he had been in New York.

"I am not a French dog," he continued, "I came from a Belgium breed of dogs, but my father and mother were taken to America when quite young, and trained by the celebrated trainer George J. Goodsped, who also trained me. And when the war broke out, he gave me to his best friend to bring to France saying to me as he did so, 'Look out for this man, and bring him back to me, alive or dead.' Then turning to his friend, he said. 'This is the best gift I could possibly give to you, for he will guard you with his life, and should you be wounded or fall in battle, he will find you, even among thousands, and bring you the first aid to the wounded, or notify the Red Cross people that he has found a wounded man. I know how wise and brave he is, for I have raised him from a puppy. Besides, he comes from a celebrated police dog stock.'

"To make a long story short, I came over with this friend, and we have been on the fighting line ever since. Once my master was doing spy work and was shot by a sniper. At supper time I missed him, and immediately I went in search of him. Having good scenting faculties, I soon tracked him to the barbed wire entanglements belonging to the enemy. And when I found him, he was trying to crawl on his stomach back to our own line. When I reached him he was about exhausted from loss of blood. But when I licked his face and barked a little pet bark I have, he opened his eyes, smiled to let me know he knew me, and then fainted dead away. I tried to bring him to enough for him to help himself to the brandy in a kit we dogs all carry on our necks. But he could not move, as he was too far gone. So I buried my teeth in the clothes of his chest and half dragged and half carried him until I got him beyond the enemy's line. Then I laid his head in as comfortable a position as I could and ran to the camp hospital for help. On the way there I happened to meet a trained nurse hurrying to the help of some other poor soldiers, but I made such a fuss barking at her and pulling her dress that finally she followed me And we were none too soon. In a few minutes he would have died from loss of blood. But the nurse, having all the bandages necessary, soon had the blood stopped, and by the aid of a few drops of brandy he began to revive. She stayed with him until I ran to the hospital and came back with two orderlies and a stretcher. Now don't you tell and I will tell you a secret"

(But we will have to wait until tomorrow to find out what the secret is.)

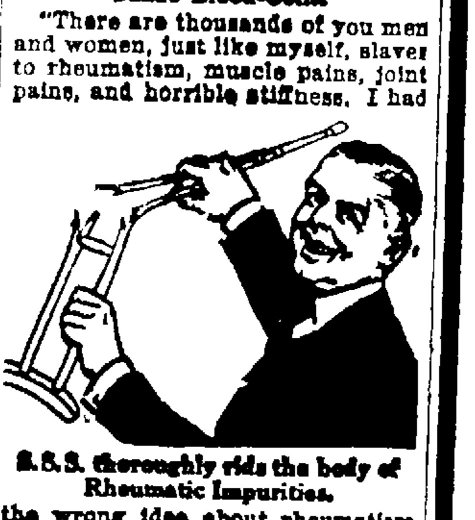
FLAYS CAN OPENERS

OTTAWA, O, May 19—"Too many women use the can-opener and get up anything for husband and the children just so they may gad about," said Mayor Frank A. Schwab, of Buffalo, in an appeal made at the closing session of the meeting of the supreme board of the Knights of St. John here recently "God give us the woman who is not loath to sacrifice a day or an afternoon at the club or over the card table to give her husband a good, hot supper, when he comes home tired after a hard day's work"

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

There's glorious joy in knowing this:—that more Red-Blood-Cells stops Rheumatism, and that S. S. S. builds Blood-Cells.

"There are thousands of you men and women, just like myself, slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for 15 years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S.! Say what you will, I never knew such startling results were possible. Well, folks, besides knocking out my rheumatism it gave me back some of the strength I used to have way back! I've got a better color in my face, my appetite is dandy. I don't use my crutches any more. I'm walking around straight-up on two young legs!" S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. By building blood-cells it builds nerve strength for young folks who ought to have more, and for older people who have little. It stops pimples, boils, blackheads, eczema, chases away blood impurities. You can always rely on it. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is the more economical.



S.S.S. thoroughly rids the body of Rheumatic Impurities.

Bishop Du Moulin Confirms Class of 28 Here on Sunday

Sunday morning Bishop Du Moulin made his annual visitation to St. Andrews church and administered the rite of confirmation to a class of twenty-eight children and adults. The bishop was the celebrant at the nine o'clock communion service after which he addressed the church school and congratulated the members because of the deep interest they are taking in helping St. Rocco's mission in Youngstown.

Before the sermon the bishop rejoiced with the people of St. Andrews in being free from debt and hoped that plans would soon be made for further parish development in the form of a modern parish house for week-day social and religious activities. The sermon was a logical and masterly presentation of the need of religious faith in every-day life. The bishop stated that the two underlying requisites for success in the business world are credit and confidence, and without these there can be no real progress in the commercial and industrial realm. "These terms are virtually other names for faith," he continued and said, "everyone recognizes the need of this faith in the business world. Why not be reasenable and consistent and recognize the need of faith in the religious realm? Why not put into practical application the principle of faith in the religious life just as we do in the business life?" Again the bishop emphasized the need of maximum Christians as so many people are apparently endeavoring to do the least possible in matters religious instead of the most—it seems as if many are asking, "What is the least I can do and still be recognized as a Christian?" He said, "this is all wrong. Christian men and women should endeavor to do not the least but the most possible for our Lord and His church."

The flowers on the altar for this joyful day in St. Andrews were given by Mrs. Florence Houghton Wagner in loving memory of her husband, Frank Wagner.

Church of Christ Observea Its 'Pioneer Day' on Sunday

At the Church of Christ yesterday morning, Mrs. George W. Ingersoll read the following account of the early history of the church.

On Dec. 20, 1880, a meeting was called of all disciples of Christ in Elyria and adjoining towns to be held in the old M. E. church, recently discarded. W. G. Allen presided at the meeting and it was announced that James T. Robinson of Ridgeville, Raymond Haven, Sheldon Streator and Jacob Tucker of Eaton, Dr. A. C. Moore of North Amherst and W. D. Head of Elyria had jointly purchased the old M. E property and would hold the same until such time as a church could be organized and become able to assume the financial burden of the same. It was announced that T D. Garvin of Columbus had been called to assume the pastorate commencing Feb. 13, 1881. Committees were appointed to prepare the building and the meeting adjourned.

The first church service was held on Feb. 13, 1881 and on Mar. 13th the church was duly organized with a little band of 22 men and women with little money but strong courage and faith and vision. Of these only two are now living. Judge Webber and Mrs. Rose Flannery Lane. The first Elders were W. C. Allen and S. M. Parmely, the Deacons H. H. Houghton and Jas. Warnock, with Geo. Ogden as clerk. There was no choir at first but Mrs. Lantsbury presided at the little cabinet organ and Mr. Allen led the congregation in singing. There were no trained voices but there is no doubt that old hymns sung from the hearts of those earnest men and women as surely reached the celestial throne as do those of the paid choirs of today.

There are no records of the Sunday school or other societies at that time and memory so far back is rather dim but a few facts have been gleaned with the help of others who were here soon after. The Sunday school was organized by Mr. Allen and the first officers were appointed by the church. S M. Parmely was the first superintendent. The officers of secretary and organist were filled by Miss Harriett Allen. Now Mrs. P. J. Robinson of Columbus and Miss Alice Houghton, now Dr. Houghton of Salt Lake City. The average attendance is believed to have been around 45.

School was opened with a song followed by prayer. The lesson was then read responsively and after another song the classes were dismissed but they had not far to go as all were in this one room. In the northwest corner, Mrs. Diebold, an old English lady, taught what was called the Infant Class. Next came a class of girls in their early teens taught by Mrs. Mead. There was also a class of young ladies who never forgot the earnest work and teachings of Mrs Margaret Flannery Smart. The adult Bible Class was ably conducted by Mr. Allen. After the class work all were called together again and the lesson was reviewed by the superintendent, each class striving to answer more questions than the others.

After the secretary's report the school was closed with a song.

The Aid Society was organized with Mrs. W. D. Mead, president; Mrs. Houghton, secretary and Mrs. Allen, treasurer. The first meetings were held from house to house and later on suppers were held in the old chapel. The young people or girls of the church formed a society known as the Philougns Society whose one accomplishment was the purchase of a nine piece silver communion set which was used until the present individual service was purchased. Early in the history of the church came Mrs Storer with her little band of Busy Bees which was conducted for many years and of which many, now fathers and mothers, look back upon with pleasure.

"World Peace; Hope Or Delusion," Discussed by U. P. Church Pastor

"World Peace; A Hope or a Delusion" was the subject taken by Rev. G. A. Brown, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, for his Peace Day sermon. He said, "World peace is greatly to be desired, especially since the World War and its loss of life and property and demoralizing after effects.

"Is it to be expected? Will there ever be a time when war will cease? How may we know? From the Word of God, "What Saith the Scriptures."

He divided his remarks into three general points as follows:

"First; World Peace is Coming as prophesied in Isaiah 2:1-4, 9:1-7 and 11:1-9. Second; How is it coming?" He mentioned several things that have not brought on World Peace and said that preparation for war did not prevent it, that the "Peace Movement" has not brought peace, as witness the world war.

He gave suggestions made by some peace enthusiasts as to how this peace might be brought about ."The International Peace Association of Boston says let business men say the word and war would be impossible and another suggestion is that it is up to the mothers of men to outlaw war. Another suggestion is made that it is the duty of the church to banish war and the charge is made that if the churches had proclaimed the gospel of good will to the nations for the last fifty years the world war would have been impossible, but this was done and still the war was fought. Other suggestions of like nature were made, all of which lose sight of some things that underlie the whole peace problem, namely, first there can be no peace among men who are at war with God, second there cannot be peace apart from righteousness. Peace is a product, a fruit of which righteousness is the root. Third there can be no peace to men or nations apart from faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Fourth there can be no peace on earth by means of merely human plans and projects."

Rev. Brown's third point was, "When is it Coming." "According to the Scriptures in the first place this age is not the age of world peace but on the contrary, according to our Lord's own prophecy, war will prevail throughout to the end. Second world peace will realized in the "latter days" that is when the Jewish nation shall again occupy its rightful position of headship over the nations of the earth and Jesus Christ shall reign as king.

"Therefore world peace is both a hope and a delusion. It is a delusion as far as human agency in this age is concerned. It is an assured hope that when the Son of Man shall return "in power and great glory" to reign in righteousness and peace and the last word we have from Him as He went back to the right hand of God and sat down with the Father on His throne and the last that we will have until He returns to occupy His own throne is: "Yea; I come quickly" and we unite with John who replies "Amen, Come Lord Jesus."

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE RING OF DREAMS

Some must delve when the dawn
is nigh,
Some must toil when the noon-
day beams;
But when night comes, and the
soft winds sigh,
Every man is a King of Dreams!

One must plod while another must ply
At plow or loom till the sunset streams.
But when night, and the moon
rides high,
Every man is a King of Dreams!

One is slave to a master's cry,
Another serf to a despot seems,
But when night comes, and the
discords die,
Every man is a King of Dreams!

This you may sell and that may buy,
And this you may barter for gold that gleams,
But there's one domain that is fixed for aye,
Every man is a King of Dreams!

Sandusky High Wins With Lorain Second

SANDUSKY, May. 19.—Showing the splendid form that earned its predecessors two successive championships in the Little Big Seven League Coach Miller's Blue and White track team Saturday won one of the most closely contested track events ever staged at the high school Athletic field. The Sanduskians finished on top with a total of 80 points while Lorain high took second place with 66 1-2 points, and Fremont, the dark horse, fell into last place with only 4 1-2 points.

Sandusky outclassed both Lorain and Fremont. The Blue and White tracksters took nine firsts and split a tenth with the Steel Town crew, but Lorain's ability to grab the less conspicious places let their score mount and threw a bad scare into Miller's camp. Fremont, of whom both Sandusky and Lorain were more or less apprehensive lest Taylor uncover a phenom who would jeopardize the chances of one of the two major contenders, failed to do anything startling in the meet, even Thatcher, the highly touted, and truly wonderful high jumper, failing to do anything against Kent Crooks and D. Smith, of Lorain Crooks Stars.

Kent Crooks, one of the league's greatest luminaries, performed true to form Saturday, getting away with four firsts and a split first Crooks finished first in every event in which he was entered, finishing with 24 points, the greatest number made individually in the meet

Lorain got the jump on Sandusky by taking first and second in the shot put, the initial event, and retained a lead up to the seventh event when the second upset of the meet occurred as Kelley won the javelin throw, conceded by dopsters to Kasperick of Lorain who unofficially broke the league record last week at Elyria Kasperick finished second to Kelley's 142 feet mark in the lance event.

Score Was Tied.

Kelley's first and Homberger's fourth in the javelin tied up the count at 38 points each for Sandusky and Lorain In the next event, the high jump Lorain forged ahead of Sandusky 1 1-2 points with D Smith's split first and Martin's split second

The ninth event, the high hurdles, revealed the turning point of the meet. Of the six remaining events of the meet, the Blue tracksters had been conceded victories in five of them, the relay, according to season figures going to Lorain But Miller's team took the relay just for fun and sewed up the meet tight, although they could have sacrificed winning that event and would have still been victors

The summary:

Pole vault—Heimberger, Sandusky, first, Beers and Keiser Lorain, tied for second, Weis Sandusky, third. Height: 9 feet, 10 inches

Shot-put—Tincura, Lorain, first; Uhelyi Lorain second, Raeger, Sandusky, third Thatche Fremont, fourth Distance. 39 feet, 2 1-2 inches

MIKE GONZALES

Back in the turbulent days of 1898 when the intervention of America brought U. S troops to the island of Cuba and independence from Spain to the islanders one Miguel Gonzales, a lad of seven, decided that when he grew up he wanted to see the United States

Growing a little older he heard that one way to see it was to become a baseball player and play with an American team Miguel became quite famous on the island diamonds as a member of the Havana Reds and when the Boston Braves offered him a tryout in 1912, Miguel left the "Pearl of the Antilles" and the name of Miguel behind and became "Mike," a hopeful young backstop trying to make the grade in the majors.

He also took the first step in a journey which has given him a chance to see more of America than his fondest hopes held out to him

Only Hesitates in Boston.

He lacked experience when the Braves looked him over so they sent him to the Long Branch club of the South Atlantic League.

The next year the Braves let him go to Cincinnati. "Another sightseeing trip," remarked Mike and was on his way

The next season the Cinci Reds decided to trade Mike for Ivy Wingo and the Cuban lad got a railroad ticket a mile long that finally landed him in St. Louis.

Mike delivered for the Cardinals to such an extent that they kept him on the payroll and busy. In 1915 he caught 82 games. The following season he handled the Card pitchers in 93. The next year he caught 68 games and filled in at first for eighteen games.

In 1918 he caught 100 games and the following spring was set for another busy year in the western metropolis when the club decided to part with him. First thing Mike knew he was on the road again—to New York. Saw a lot of new country and got a chance to look over the Big Town

When the 1921 season rolled around McGraw decided he wanted Heinie Groh to bolster his infield. Jawn looked over his team, halted his gaze on Gonzales and said

"That bird likes to travel. Here is where he gets a free ride to Cincinnati. Mike got it. He and George Burns played Russian bank on the way west.

Nothing new in Cinciville to Mike so he rather enjoyed the ride to St. Paul when he finally found a ticket for that fair city in his hands back in 1922.

Back in Cincinnati

This spring the Cinci Reds acquired him again with the intention of sending him to Brooklyn. Mike hove into Brooklyn, believing he was about to establish a permanent residence there, only to find Hank De Berry and Hargraves ready to do all the catching.

Tired at last of traveling Mike wanted to settle down and play ball—and so welcomed the recent move that sent him to St. Louis in the deal that made Milton Stock a Dodger.

Mike's work is cut out for him with the Cards. Vernon Clemens suffered injuries in training that have kept him out of the game.

Three youngsters, Vick, Holm and Niebergall, have shown plenty of promise. Vic, in particular, has indicated he is a star in the making But Rickey needs a dependable veteran to handle his young pitchers and the venerable Allan Sothoron.

So it looks, finally, as though Mike's roaming days are over for a while. Mike can't say that he didn't accomplish what he set out to do—see the U S. About all he missed was Hollywood and the Grand Canyon. And hes' young yet. GIVE HIM TIME. GIVE HIM TIME.

RAIN PREVENTS GAMES HERE SUNDAY

Rain again interfered with sport events in this city and in fact all over northern Ohio yesterday. The game between the Wilder Cigars and Kleinman's Roofies, of Cleveland, and Moulton Candies and the Avon A. C were both postponed. Also the game between the Richwines and the Greenwich team was postponed for the second time. An effort will be made to have the games played next Sunday.

A POKER EPITAPH

Under the ground lies John MacDuff,
He thought three aces weren't enough;
Oh what a tangled web we weave
When we hold aces up our sleeve!

Any pitcher can win in Pittsburgh, where it's easy to get smoke on the ball.

You can't teach an old dog new tricks—the Athletics are back in the cellar again.

In one big league game recently the first batter knocked a homer, and everybody yawned. The second hit the umpire with a foul tip, and the stands burst into roars of applause.

THE UNPARDONABLE SIN

I've heard some hard-luck stories in the course of passing years,
Of shattered loves and broken hearts, and a mother's parting tears;
I know a man who lost his home when he couldn't pay the rent,
I've heard of teams that never lost except by accident;
I've heard these weary tales of woe in every branch of sport,
Through the papers, in the movies, and in stories long and short;
But worse than all these gloomy yarns of disappointments and regrets
Is to have a younger sister who swipes your cigarettes.

SPORTS DONE BY BROWN

Connie Mack says that the Athletics are not a last place ball club and finishes his remark with the statement that he doesn't see a "tailend" team in the league this year. Perhaps the millenium is at hand and there will be no more teams finishing eighth.

Grand circuit followers will get a thrill out of the news that Single G., grand old pacer, will be seen again in the Grand Circuit. Word from his winter home in Noblesville, Ind., has it that the famous Hoosier star will appear at several of the race meetings. Single G. holds a mark of 1:58 1-2. He must be thirteen or fourteen years old now.

Sid Barbarian, Detroit lightweight sensation, is frantically endeavoring to get a title match with champion Benjamin Actor Leonard. Would Benny's artistic soul permit him to mix things with a Barbarian?

Discussing the pitching and home run situation recently President Heydler of the National league made the statement that this year's records tend to show that much of the heavy clouting of recent years has been due to poor pitching and not to conditions imposed on the pitchers or a lively ball.

He pointed out that more home runs had been made in the American league this season, up to a recent date, than in the similar period of 1923. This despite the fact that the pitchers are aided this year by the new rule which keeps balls in play longer after they become dirty.

Despite the continued epidemic of home runs many low score games are being turned in in both leagues, he points out, which would indicate that when the pitchers are right the slugging stops. Which would discount any belief that the lively ball was to blame.

Sounds reasonable, at that.

Umpire Bill Dineen, old time pitcher, says that Lou Criger, old Red Sox catcher, was the chorus girl's hat pin when it came to throwing. "He was sure death to base stealers," says Bill. May be. But we'd always heard that Buck Ewing wasn't awful bad when it came to slapping the ball down to second base.

Now that Quintin Romero-Rojas has been knocked out of the fistic spotlight and a match with Luis Firpo of somebody else by Mr. Floyd Johnson, the Swedish farmer, we arise to ask:

Just why were the two matched?

Did the promoters really believe that the Chilean heavyweight was good enough to halt Johnson—the man who gave Jess Willard a real battle when the big Kansan attempted his comeback?

Or did they sic him onto Johnson merely to find out how good he was, with no preference as to the outcome of the battle?

They were aware that a victory over the Chilean would not make Johnson a big drawing card. Johnson had had his chance and lost out.

My guess is that they banked all on Rojas, with his mean look and two-fisted ways, knocking Johnson out and thereby making himself, over night, a "logical" opponent for Firpo, Wills or even Dempsey.

And Mr. Johnson, righteously incensed, kicked the plan into a cocked hat by soaking Senor Rojas on his Chilean Chin.

Lorain Eagles added two more points to their championship total in the Cleveland soccer league by defeating the Favorite Knits, 2 to 1, yesterday at Winton field, Cleveland.

The Knits, however, kept the champs busy, driving them well in around their goal time and again. Failure to take advantage of scoring chances lost the game for the Favorites.

All the scoring was done in the first half. Having grabbed the lead, the Eagles withstood the Knit attack sturdily in the second half, turning back all thrusts at their goal.

Why Madge Told Lillian About Her Tiff With Dicky.

THE voices of Lillian and Mrs. Marks died away down the hall then sounded again close to my ears and I realized that they had come into the bedroom of the Marks apartment, separated from my kitchen only by the thinnest of walls.

"Just dump them on the bed" my neighbor said "and thank you dearie for helpin' me down with em. And I'll remember everythin' you said. But I'm scared."

"I'll see you again soon" Lillian assured her and in a few more seconds I heard the Marks door close upon another excited asseveration that Lillian was "as square and fine as Mis Graham, and that's sayin' somethin'."

I opened the kitchen door cautiously as Lillian came past it, and noiselessly followed her to the living room.

I am simply bursting with curiosity" I whispered when I had closed the door. Of course I know you helped her carry the furs back, and from her words and inflections I can see you have her eating out of your hand but what did you find out? Or don't you want to tell me?"

Lillian Is Reassuring

I added the query because I had caught a familiar expression in Lillian's eyes, one which means that she wishes to work out a problem on her own. I had not realized that Mrs Marks and her peculiar surroundings presented anything more to Lillian than a chance to aid me in dealing with Dicky's protege. But in Lillian's suddenly lined forehead I saw that something beyond any personal problem was interesting her and I regretted my quizzing.

"Frankly I—don't—just now" Lillian replied slowly "I've stumbled upon—something—surprising—to me and I want not only time but the sense of being absolutely unhampered by personal relations while working the thing out. I will tell you this however—" she flashed a brilliant smile at me—"you were partly right about those fur garments. They are not half as guilty as they look."

A Timely Interruption.

"I am glad of that," I returned heartily, hoping that Lillian would not see my involuntary chargin that Mrs Marks evidently had confided far more to her than she had to me.

"I knew you would be," Lillian answered, and followed her assertion with a question

"When is Dicky going to Michigan with his mother?"

"Just as soon as Mother Graham can get ready, probably in two or three days."

"And when is Dicky going out to the farm?"

"I don't know," I replied. I had not confined to Lillian the details of Dicky's abrupt departure.

She threw a shrewd glance at me. "How would you like to sublet your apartment to me while Dicky and his mother are gone and you are at the farm?" she queried with a smile at the word "sublet." She knew that if she had used the word seriously I should have been deeply offended.

I grinned involuntarily.

"It was what Dicky suggested when he went away this evening." I said demurely. "It will be an—especial—delight—to me to tell him that I have followed his advice."

She gave me an answering grin. "You sure are learning how to gentle that broncho," she said. "When do you expect him back?"

"I don't know" I returned truthfully. "He shook the dust of the establishment from his feet when he left, and announced that he would tell the janitor to get his suitcases and keep them for him. But—he went straight out of the door and didn't stop for the janitor."

"Your vantage point the front window," Lillian commented with an amused but kindly, grin. "Wise lady! You can learn a lot from that station. Then you think he'll be back tonight?"

"No-o," I answered, "but I imagine he will telephone."

As if punctuating my answer, the telephone rang

TODAY'S BEST STORY

All ye who are weary with taxes and tiny incomes, listen and be comforted

David Howells councilsergeant at arms in Youngstown drew the princely salary of $300 a year when he assumed office the first of this year. A slash in the pay of city employees came along, and the sergeant at arms was reduced to a more moderate income namely $1 a year, a reduction estimated by expert calculators at $299 or thereabouts. Mr Howells is evidently a patient and patriotic lad and he let it go at that.

But last week the worm turned and the straw broke the camels back to make the figure of speech sure-fire. Under an ordinance providing for an occupational tax went into effect it took from Mr Howells the toll of $.50, one half dollar, an even half of his councilmanic salary

This is just a bit too much said he, and filed a protest. It was too late, however as the ordinance had been passed and the sergeant at arms of Youngstown now has $.50 velvet every year.
